

RUGBY'S ROAMING GAZETTE

EST 3865

Published - Stogath, Stogath Isle, Western Territories

JULY 4 4885

Changelings remain quiet during death cloud panic

UNSEEN AND UNHEARD

With closed borders and tight lips. Part of the stolen land that once belonged to the proud nation of Squiyles is silent.

Their silence began over a month ago when they declared themselves a ruling power. Since that declaration there has been no word.

Now during these trying times, with the impending death cloud all we here is the same.

Silence.

All trade has also ceased since the initial declaration. What does this mean for those who are migrating west toward those closed borders?

Swaths of people with nowhere to go are moving west away from the ravages of the miasmic cloud. What will happen when they arrive in land that is no forbidden to be on?

Only time will tell.

MIASMIC CLOUD SPREADING FAST

Any and all! You must get out! and fast!

EVACUATION

Folks! Seek safe territory! the cloud has swallowed the eastern portions of Binneth, the orclands, and Hawthorne!

Underground bunkers are being constructed as initial tests suggest that the cloud has difficulty penetrating the soil.

Makeshift ventilation units are being cobbled together with makeshift mechanical and magic ferver.

It's messy out there, governments are opening borders, then closing borders. Announcements are being made on how to handle the impending cloud that differ from day to day and hour to hour.

Get out! Go! Stop reading this! for the love of Desna get the hell to safety!

Miasmic cloud swallowing up land and moving fast

DEATH CLOUD

From the shores of Sawyen and Suenth a green cloud of deathly energy is emanating outward. Each day observers are noticing it reaches further and further. Reports of many ocean vessels not returning from the ara as well.

"There was a big ol' green light.. and then just bones were thar after my brother jumped throu'it" Says Buckley. a fisherman who awoke to see the cloud creeping toward the vessel he was crewing on.

We received multiple reports of pulsing bright spots of energy in the distance in the cloud. No one that we know of has entered the cloud successfully that we know of.

Artist's rendition of the miasmic death cloud

FORGOTTEN TOWN DIES TO MIASMA

Isolated town meets outsiders, refuses to evacuate

"They showered us with a feast of potatoes...."

We told them there wasn't much time and it wasn't time for french fries or potato salad."

"Their culture was tied to the mountain. They lived here and grew up here. They had only seen one group of newcomers before us"

"When we tried to describe what was heading toward them they had no concept of what we were telling them.

Short of forcefully capturing them and binding them to remove them from the island we were out of options.

We left them to their fate, they did however gift many gifts from their town.

LOST TO TIME

During the evacuations of surviving portions of Suenth and Sawyen. Small Islands surrounding the countries needed to be evacuated as well.

a small mountain village calling themselves Meschen was discovered. The party of volunteers struggled with the locals to get them to understand the threat that was heading toward them. It was to no avail.

The following was stated by the leader of the mission:

Artist's rendition of the attempted rescue of the lost town of Meschen

Rugby's Gazette needs a new field journalist

SWASHBUCKLER STORY TELLERS

Amidst the terror and torment that afflicts this world on the daily. We know there are travellers with tales to spill.

With the disappearance of our dearest and most respected journalist Rex Sauvage, a hole has been left here at the gazette.

Will you be the one to fill our hole?

Can you dash through flames and brighted the hearts of our readers?

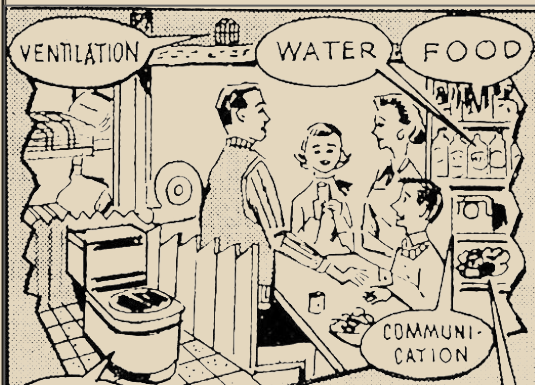

Do you seek thrills and make the tales that bards weave into song for centuries?

Are you a dashing handsome explorer who needs a soapbox?

The readers at Rugbys Gazette need your talent!

Show it off, we pay very well for good quality submissions.

Community And Private Miasmic Cloud Fallout Shelters!

*Lee's Impending Doom Solutions
Located in Yosari, Kaku, Kingdom of Gaithiye*